A new Administrative Centre for the town of Deinze.

The new building is clad in stone and set in a pivotal location neighboring the church and river. Accommodation is provided for 100 staff, a large archive and staff canteen in addition to a 250 sq m council chamber, public meeting rooms and offices for the mayor and councilors.

Large public foyers on each floor provide informal meeting spaces between members of the public and administrative staff and officials. The council chamber has floor to ceiling windows, placing the activity of the council on display to the people of Deinze.
